Examination Branch FAQs

Akal University | Student information guide | Prepared 31 October 2026

This FAQ is a student-facing summary. Session-specific notices and direct written instructions from Akal University's Examination Branch take precedence.

Results and DMCs

Where can I check my result?

Check the official Akal University website and announcements for result notifications, examination schedules and related notices. Keep your AUID/enrolment and roll numbers ready. If your result is not visible, confirm that the result for your programme and examination session has been published before contacting the Examination Branch.

When will I receive my DMC?

Result publication and physical DMC readiness may occur at different times. The public information reviewed does not provide a standing DMC release date or collection schedule. Contact the Branch with your programme, semester/year, roll number and session, and ask whether the DMC is ready, where to collect it, and during what hours.

What should I check on a DMC?

Check name, AUID/enrolment and roll numbers, programme, semester/year, examination session, course/paper entries, marks or grades, credits and result status. Report errors promptly in writing with a copy of the DMC and evidence. Do not alter the document yourself.

Transcripts and verification

How do I apply for transcript/document verification?

Use the Akal University Transcript form linked from https://auts.ac.in/facilities/e-sanad/. The University page says to complete the form, attach self-attested DMCs and degree certificate(s), pay the University's stated verification fee, and upload documents and the fee receipt through e-Sanad as directed.

What fee is published for verification?

The e-Sanad page states Rs. 500 per certificate for University verification/processing. MEA charges are separate; the University page lists Rs. 40 per document for attestation and Rs. 90 for apostille. Confirm amounts on the current University page and e-Sanad portal before paying.

How do I track an e-Sanad request?

Save the e-Sanad acknowledgement and ARN (Application Registration Number). Use the portal's status enquiry with that ARN. For Akal University verification questions, contact the ACOE.

Reappear/backlog and examinations

How do I apply for a reappear/backlog examination?

Follow the current examination notice, date sheet and application instructions for your programme/session. Deadlines, eligibility and fees can vary. The official online fee page has a “Reappear fee” category, but the category does not establish the amount or deadline for a particular examination. Confirm the current form, fee, payment reference and submission method with the Examination Branch.

Where do I find the exam timetable?

Check the current University announcements and date-sheet notice for your programme. Verify the paper code, date, time, examination centre and any revised notice. Use the latest revision if a date sheet has been updated.

What if I cannot attend an exam or there is a discrepancy in attendance?

Contact your department and the Examination Branch promptly, follow the applicable examination rules, and retain any written request or medical/other evidence. Eligibility for a special examination or relief is governed by University rules; do not assume it is automatic.

Certificate applications

How do I get a degree certificate?

Check the convocation announcement and eligible-graduate list. If you miss convocation or need a certificate by another route, ask the Examination Branch about post-convocation collection, dispatch, fee and timeline. Public guidance reviewed does not state a universal off-cycle procedure.

How do I request migration, provisional or duplicate documents?

Request the current form and official checklist from the Examination Branch. The public guidance reviewed does not specify standard fees, affidavits or processing times for these services. Ask what applies to your document and situation before paying or preparing legal paperwork.

How do I correct an error on a marksheet or certificate?

Write to the Examination Branch with your student identifiers, a copy of the document and evidence of the correct details. Ask for the correction form, supporting documents, fee (if any), and timeline. Keep the acknowledgement and do not change the original document.

How to write a useful query

Use a clear subject line such as “DMC collection status – [Programme] – [Roll number]”. Include your full recorded name, AUID/enrolment and roll numbers, programme, semester/year, examination session, a concise request, your phone number and any relevant notice/reference. Avoid sending sensitive identity documents unless the University asks for them through an official channel.
