4. Office timings and visits

Specific public-facing opening hours for the Examination Branch, Registrar and administrative offices were not available in the official pages reviewed. Do not assume that the published 24-hour helpline means document counters are open around the clock. Before visiting, call or email and confirm:

- Which office or counter handles your request and its campus location.

- Opening days and counter hours on the intended visit date.

- Whether an appointment, online request or prior result confirmation is required.

- Whether the office closes for lunch, holidays, examination duties or University events.

- What original IDs or documents to bring and whether a representative may attend.

- Whether the requested document can be issued that day or needs prior processing.

If you do not receive a reply, allow time for a follow-up before making a long trip. Include your programme and student identifiers, but do not email sensitive identity documents unless the University requests them via an official channel.
