Migration Certificate Guidelines

Akal University | Student information guide | Prepared 31 October 2026

1. What a migration certificate is for

A migration certificate is typically used when a student moves from one university to another and the receiving institution requires proof that the student may continue studies there. It is distinct from a transfer certificate, character certificate, transcript, DMC and degree certificate. Ask the receiving institution which exact document it needs before applying.

2. Akal University information and limits

Akal University's public admissions prospectus lists a migration certificate from the previous institution among documents submitted by new students. The public information reviewed does not publish a current procedure, form, fee, eligibility criteria or processing period for a student seeking a migration certificate from Akal University. Therefore, the Examination Branch must confirm the current process; do not treat this guide as an official application form or fee schedule.

3. Before applying

Contact the Controller of Examinations and explain whether you are leaving/withdrawing, have completed a programme, or need the certificate for further admission. Ask:

- Is a migration certificate the correct document for my situation, or do I need a transfer/character certificate as well?
- Am I eligible to apply now, and must my withdrawal, result or programme completion be recorded first?
- What is the current form and submission route?
- Are there academic, library, hostel, finance or other no-dues clearances?

- What supporting documents and photographs are required?

- Is an affidavit, original certificate, receiving-institution letter or proof of admission needed?

- What is the current fee, approved payment method and processing time?

- How will the certificate be collected or delivered?

4. Information and documents to prepare

Until the University confirms its official checklist, gather the following information and have copies available if requested:

- Full name exactly as held in Akal University records.

- AUID/enrolment number, roll number, programme, department and dates of study.

- Current phone, email and postal address.

- Reason for migration and name/address of the receiving institution, if known.

- Government photo ID and Akal University student ID.

- Latest result/DMC and any completion or withdrawal record.

- Receiving institution's requirement letter or admission evidence, if available.

- No-dues/clearance evidence, if the University requires it.

- Fee receipt only after the University confirms an amount and official payment route.

Do not surrender original DMCs, degree certificates or identity documents unless the Examination Branch explicitly requires inspection or retention and explains how they will be returned.

5. Submission and follow-up

1. Obtain the latest migration application form from the Examination Branch or the official University website if it publishes one.

2. Complete the form accurately and attach only the items the University requests. Sign/date the declaration and retain a full copy.

3. Submit at the specified office or official online/email/post channel. If submitting in person, request a dated acknowledgement; if by post, retain tracking proof.

4. Record the application number, fee reference and expected completion date.

5. Follow up with the Examination Branch if the expected period passes. When the certificate is issued, verify your name and student details before leaving or acknowledging delivery.

6. Representative collection or dispatch

Ask whether a representative may collect the document or whether postal dispatch is available. Confirm the required authorization letter, student ID copy, representative's original ID, address proof, postage/dispatch fee and delivery timeline. These arrangements are not specified in the public material reviewed.
